Josephine Bageritz*

Have you ever hit a wall in a project, unsure how to move forward and tempted to abandon it? In this Night Science Workshop, we will explore the creative process in science — how hypotheses are formed and innovative ideas emerge across disciplines. Led by Prof. Itai Yanai, the session will invite participants to engage in improvisational discussions and collaborative exercises designed to spark new ways of thinking and navigate the creative crises that shape every scientific journey.
